WORKING TITLE /
RESEARCH TOPIC

Start defining your research topic. Identify the PROBLEM you would like to explore. Identify the variables. WRITE whatever comes to your mind when you think about that topic.

PURPOSE OF THE STUDY

Narrate your REASONS why you have chosen the research topic. Think of the possible outcomes after you can conduct the study.

THEORY,
CONCEPT,
PROPOSITION

Search for a theory (with its proponent) that supports your study. You can use a concept model or a proposition that MENTIONS THE PROBLEM AND VARIABLES of your chosen research topic.

RELATED LITERATURE

Consider getting related studies, which covers the global, national and local context. Focus on the results of those studies so that you can see how relevant they are in your research topic.

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE STUDY

To highlight the URGENCY of your research, enumerate who can BENEFIT from your study. Explain how they can take advantage of the results of the research.

RESEARCH DESIGN

After you have defined your purpose, collected the related studies and identified your beneficiaries, DECIDE what DATA you wish to get in order to lead you what research design you should use.
